MR. PONTON'S WORKS ON THE ORIGIN AND PERPETUATION OF LIFE.

Just published, in One Volume, post 8vo, with very numerous Illustrations engraved on Steel, price 18s. cloth.

THE BEGINNING, its WHEN and its HOW.
By MUNGO PONTON, F.R.S.E.

By the same Author, uniform, price 6s.

GLIMPSES of the FUTURE LIFE; with an Appendix on the Probable Law of the Increase of Human Life.

In the first of these books, after several chapters on the probable origin and mode of formation of the material universe at large, and on the nature and manner of operation of the solar energies, the chief part of the work is devoted to a consideration of organic life, its phenomena, origin, and perpetuation. The views of Mr. Darwin, his supporters and opponents, are fully discussed, and the evidences on either side carefully weighed. In a second part, the modern theories are compared with the Hebrew narrative, and the possibility of their reconciliation considered. The illustrations exhibit the beauties displayed by even the lowest organisms, and the evidences of intelligent design which they present.

The second book reviews the scriptural evidences in favour of a future life, and is mainly an attempt to interpret and illustrate the symbolism under which information respecting that future life is conveyed. It is designed to combat materialism on the one hand, and spiritualism on the other.

FOR SCEPTRE and CROWN. A Romance of the Present Time. By GREGOR SAMAROW. Translated by FANNY WORMALL. 2 vols. crown 8vo, 15s.
This is the celebrated "Um Scepter und Krone," which was published about a year ago in Germany, when it created a very great sensation among all classes. It deals with some of the most prominent characters who have figured and still continue to figure in European politics; and the accuracy of its life-picture is so great that it is presented to the English public not as a novel, but as a new rendering of an important chapter in recent European history.

PENELOPE, and other Poems. By Allison HUGHES. Fcap. 8vo, 4s. 6d.
"In the shape they assume, there is much to challenge admiration, much promise, and some absolute accomplishment."—Athenæum.
"Penelope is a beautiful and touching poem, partly after the style of Wordsworth's meditative vein, and partly after the style of Tennyson's muse in her most melancholy mood."—Standard.

POEMS. By Annette F. C. Knight. Fcap. 8vo, 5s.

"The Author possesses that one gift of insight which stamps the true poet more than imagination itself. . . . that one strange faculty of discerning the inner meaning and hidden beauty of things which can never be acquired."—Scotman.
"They are musical to read. . . . they give true and pleasant pictures of common things, and they tell sweetly of the deeper moral and religious harmonies which sustain us under the discords and griefs of actual life. Miss Knight has a style of her own, and as often reminds us of Ben Jonson and Shakespeare as of later poets."—Spectator.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.
BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a deliciously flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—See article in the Civil Service Gazette.

ISMAILIA:

A NARRATIVE of the EXPEDITION to CENTRAL AFRICA
FOR THE SUPPRESSION of the SLAVE TRADE,
ORGANISED BY ISMAIL, KHEDEVE OF EGYPT.

BY

SIR SAMUEL W. BAKER, PACHA, F.R.S., &c.

Author of "The Albert N'yanza Great Basin of the Nile," "The Nile Tributaries of Abyssinia," &c.

With a NEW PORTRAIT of the AUTHOR engraved by C. H. JEENS, PORTRAITS, MAPS, and FIFTY FULL-PAGE ILLUSTRATIONS by ZWECKER and DURAND.

"This book will add to Sir Samuel Baker's fame. . . . Once more in this book Sir Samuel Baker comes before his fellow-countrymen as an explorer, a man of keen intelligence, a sportsman, and one who can do and dare, suffer and wait, and under every circumstance prove himself to be a thorough Englishman. As such a man, we have hitherto been proud of him, and have gloried in his geographical discoveries. But in the present work, especially in the latter portions of it, the heart of the reader is touched as the author in his previous works never touched it before."—Athenæum.

"The account of his efforts, of difficulties and dangers undergone and surmounted, reads more like a romance than like the actual expression of, comparatively speaking, a mere handful of men. . . . The style of the narrative is quite characteristic of the practical nature of the man; it is straight to the point and free from useless reiteration. The descriptions are never diffuse, yet bright and comprehensive, the whole work being incomparably more entertaining than books of African travel usually are. . . . His narrative abounds in descriptive sketches and anecdotes well and pleasantly told. The book is profusely illustrated, and the clear and admirable maps prefixed to each volume render it an easy task for the reader to follow the track of the expedition."—Morning Post.

"We cannot praise it higher than by saying it is quite unlike most books of African travel. In other words, it is well written, and full of remarkable adventures. The account of the retreat is masterly, and the battles are described with considerable spirit."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"These two splendid volumes will well repay the utmost anxious curiosity with which the public have awaited their appearance. No enterprise of modern times has excited more interest than that which Sir Samuel Baker undertook five years ago, and the story of the whole campaign told by himself adds another thrilling chapter to the history of African adventure."—Daily News, Oct. 28.

"It is a story of the utmost interest, and will take its place among the most remarkable records of British hardihood. . . . For our own part we shall not hesitate to affirm that we regard this spirited and simple narrative as an undying honour to English literature, which it enriches with the record of manly and earnest deeds more eloquent than words."—Daily Telegraph, Oct. 28.

"Everybody, of course, will read 'Ismailia.' . . . It is the tale of an enterprise unparalleled in its way since the adventurous days of the early travellers, told with no effort at literary effect, but simply and forcibly, just as each incident was noted down in the journals of its leader. . . . The book will long remain a wonderful memorial of British enterprise and daring. Incidentally, too, it contains much to attract or amuse the sportsman and the geographer."—Graphic.

WORKS BY THE SAME AUTHOR.

The ALBERT N'YANZA GREAT BASIN of the NILE, and Exploration of the Nile Sources. With Maps and numerous Illustrations.

A Ramble Round the World, 1871. By M. le Baron de
HÜBNER, formerly Ambassador and Minister. Translated by Lady HERBERT. 2 vols. 8vo, 25s.
[This day.]

"It is difficult to do ample justice to this pleasant narrative of travel. . . . The translator has admirably preserved the vivid style of the foreign original, especially in the racy, minute manner in which grotesque little details—evinced the keen observer—are rendered into excellent English. The descriptions are wonderfully vivid and well painted. . . . The work does not contain a single dull paragraph."—Morning Post.

Cave Hunting; Researches on the Evidence of Caves respecting the Early Inhabitants of Europe. By W. BOYD DAWKINS, M.A., F.R.S., &c., Curator of the Museum, and Lecturer in Geology in the Owens College, Manchester. 8vo, with Coloured Plate and Woodcuts, 21s.
[This day.]

"There is evidence of ripe learning and laborious research. . . . From chapter to chapter Mr. Dawkins sets forth a series of descriptions well calculated to fascinate those readers, incessantly multiplying in our time, who delight in glancing down the vistas of remote ages, thus illuminated, not by abstract speculation, but by undeniable evidence found in the recesses of the mountains and rocks. His manner is not less excellent than his matter is curious, while the illustrations add much to the interest of the book."—Standard.
